DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 11-13, 15, 16 and 18-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fujii et al. US 6,489,385.

Fujii et al shows vulcanizable nitrile rubber compositions. This patent further shows the incorporation of the claimed acrylic resin, accelerators and fillers, see column 2 lines 45+, column 7 lines 5+ and column 8 lines 5+. The difference between the art and the claimed invention is that the art fails to provide an anticipatory example. The claims are nonetheless obvious from this disclosure because each of the claimed ingredients is disclosed and suggested to be used in combination as claimed. Case law has well established that it is prima facie obvious to select ingredients from a list and have them function in an expected manner. It would be obvious to select the ingredients from the list within the patents and use them in combination as claimed.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed 9/28/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

3. Applicant's have amended the claims so as to require the acrylic resin component to be a "hydroxyl acrylic resin." This is argued to render the claims patentably distinct from the cited art. This is not persuasive. It is acknowledged that the art does not have the terminology "hydroxyl acrylic resin." The art however discloses monomeric components which when polymerized with acrylate monomers result in polymers that fall within the scope of "hydroxyl acrylic resins." This is to say that when the prior art directs one to copolymerize the acrylate monomers with hydroxyl containing monomers, Fujii et al at column 8 line 60 to column 9 line 18. As such, monomers having hydroxyl groups are suggested and obvious to select from those listed.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
